Quick Reference Cheat Sheet · US Letter Printable

Reference Charts · Sheet #1

Phase	Checklist Step	Why It Matters
Before	Define the decision or outcome	A meeting without a goal becomes a discussion club
Before	Invite only decision-makers	Every extra attendee doubles the length
Before	Send the agenda 24 hours early	Prepared people finish meetings faster
Before	Attach pre-reads and data	Decisions need facts, not hallway memories
Before	Book the room and test the tech	One dead laptop burns the first ten minutes
During	Start exactly on time	Latecomers adapt; punctuality gets rewarded
During	Assign a dedicated note-taker	Memory fades by lunch; minutes do not
During	Park off-topic items visibly	A parking lot keeps focus without losing ideas
During	Timebox every agenda item	Constraints force the real trade-offs to surface
After	End with decisions, owners, deadlines	Unowned actions never happen
After	Send minutes within 24 hours	Recall is freshest the same day
After	Log action items where work lives	Buried in chat means buried for good
After	Schedule the follow-up now	If it needs part two, book it before people leave
After	Audit: could this have been an email?	Kill the recurring meeting that adds nothing

PRO TIP: Default to 25 Minutes: Book 25 or 50 minutes instead of 30 or 60 - the built-in buffer gets everyone to their next meeting on time.
